HIGHLIGHTS

Larry Henry earned his bachelors degree then his law degree from the University of Iowa in 1970, graduating with distinction. Larry D. Henry is one of the foremost authorities on the Fair Credit Reporting Act. The FCRA is a statutory framework aimed at consumer reporting agencies to provide accurate information in credit reports and background screenings. This area of law requires us to stay current on federal and state consumer laws. Employing a hybrid of labor and consumer law as well as background screening, He represents and advises industry trade organizations and over 200 consumer reporting agencies in the country.

Our firm is equipped to handle all areas of compliance, legislation, and litigation with consumer laws. A complicated web of regulations and legislation regarding the use and distribution of consumer information, practicing in the area of FCRA requires intimate knowledge and thorough understanding. Mr. Henry is a nationally sought after speaker on FCRA subjects; he also created and maintains an online compliance website for the industry: CRAHelpDesk.com. His national presence in this field will provide the support clients require for legal disputes involving a complicated, evolved set of laws.
